The Wine
A brilliant straw color in the glass with aromas of pear, peach and melon. The 2016 Black’s Station Chardonnay showcases lively tropical fruit flavors on the palate complemented by toasty oak notes and a hint of vanilla on the finish. Enjoy the 2016 Chardonnay on its own as an aperitif or paired with chicken alfredo over linguine or garden-fresh Italian bruschetta.

The Story
Due east of Napa, tucked away in northern California’s rolling Dunnigan Hills, is a little town called Zamora. But back in the late 1800’s, folks around here used to call it Black’s Station. At its height, this hub founded by J.J. Black boasted a hotel, two stores, a jail, blacksmith shops and a town hall. Today we grow our grapes just three miles from Zamora. We like to think that they carry with them the character and frontier-style of that old town.
